At Victoria University (VU) we have revolutionised tertiary education in Australia with our multi-award-winning VU Block Model.

Unlike the standard university model where students juggle multiple subjects at once over a semester, at VU students get to focus on one unit at a time over a four-week 'block'. Students typically finish their block on a Friday and receive their results on the following Monday, taking away uncertainty and a long wait for results.

The top 3 reasons VU's Block Model is the "New Way To Do Uni" are listed below:

1) Achieve more

Not only has Block Model seen pass rates increase, more students are becoming high achievers with Distinctions and High Distinctions grades increasing.

2) Stand out

Block class sizes are small, students get to know their classmates and teacher, and become a working team, not just a face in a lecture theatre.

3) Build confidence

Learning in small, collaborative working groups, students are empowered to share ideas, debate concepts, and explore learning opportunities from their first class.

Career in Naval Shipbuilding

With more than $160 billion invested by the Australian Government, and 15,000 people needed at the peak of work, Australia's Naval Shipbuilding Industry is growing rapidly – this is great news for young Australians looking for a secure and dynamic career!

Modern shipbuilding is more than working with sheets of metal in shipyards. It is highly technical and incorporates cutting edge engineering, technology, and systems to ensure the ships and submarines are invisible to attack, can detect threats and ensure the safety of the crew on board.

In the coming years, Australia's Naval Shipbuilding Industry is going to need people with lots of different skills to work in a wide range of roles – from city-based office roles to hands-on positions in the shipyards.

Students keen on finding out about studying to work in this industry, are encouraged to browse Naval Shipbuilding College to discover more. Students might also like to watch this YouTube Life as an Apprentice in Australia's Shipbuilding Industry clip.

Freight, Transport, and Logistics Industry

An industry that is continuing to grow is in transport and logistics. There are many careers in this diverse industry from actually driving a truck or train, to being part of the logistics team involved in the planning and distribution of freight and people. A particularly important part of this industry is in international freight – be it freight coming into Australia (imports) from all over the world, or cargo being sent from Australia (exports). People involved in this do not move the freight themselves, but instead act as an agent, connecting exporters, importers, and various transportation services like shipping, air freight, road transport, and rail.

An interesting website to visit is Make Your Move and students can also access videos of current students training in this industry.

There are two universities in Melbourne that offer dedicated logistic courses – RMIT and Victoria University. Students are encouraged to browse the following links providing more information about these courses:

- Bachelor of Business \(Logistics and Supply Chain Management\) at RMIT

Designed to help to develop a students' knowledge and interest in contemporary issues central to the logistics and supply chain management industry. This unique degree prepares students for this essential industry, providing them with sought-after knowledge, and both hard and soft skills to allow them to thrive in a challenging and rewarding career. Throughout their studies, students will focus on developing end-to-end supply chain knowledge to deal with day-to-day and strategic supply chain issues.

- Diploma of Logistics at RMIT

Designed to give students an understanding of key business areas while they develop specialist knowledge in transport and logistics planning, blockchain in supply chain management, and operations and risk management. This combination of skills, plus opportunities to engage in practical projects and collaborate globally with students and clients, will prepare students to move straight into the workforce after graduation, or to continue on into the bachelor degree.

- Bachelor of Business \(Supply Chain and Logistics Management\) at Victoria University

Students enrol into the Bachelor of Business and study the Supply Chain and Logistics Management major. This major will enable students to pursue a business career in logistics and supply chain management, export/import operations. This major will also give students the skills to work closely with other companies in areas like manufacturing and services. Logistics units/subjects are often offered in business degrees at universities.

Students are encouraged to browse VTAC for a comprehensive list of what is on offer across tertiary institutions in Victoria.

ACU Talk with Industry webinar series

The ACU Talk with Industry webinar series returns in 2022.

Ideal for students, careers advisors and teachers, this series features ACU graduates and academics from different industries talking about their real-world experiences.

Our panel of experts will offer advice on how to pursue a career in their area of study, share their experiences working in the industry and much more. You can ask panellists questions to learn more about their course, career pathways and workplace realities.

This webinar series is great for students who are unsure of which course to study and where those studies may take them. Each session showcases a different study area at ACU, providing insights into business, IT, exercise science, physiotherapy, law, criminology, nursing, allied health, paramedicine, psychology, teaching, youth and social work.

Join our first week of online presentations to hear from ACU alumni working in their respective fields. Take part in a Q&A session with our graduates to learn about their experiences.
